After the departure of General Chas. at 1.05 this afternoon, the governor turned his attention to perfecting plans for the conduct of the military campaign. Letters were sent to J. F. Welborn, J. C. Osmond and D. W. Brown, presidents of the three principal coal companies, and to John P. White, Frank J. Hayes and John McLeannan, officials of the United Mine Workers of America, calling upon by the strikers, who climbed the steep hills on either side of the canon during the night, and at daylight began shooting into the camp. Mine officials had been notified that Marshal Hobson with deputies was on his way into the mine camps, and when the fighting started they made a rush out of the stockade in an attempt to join the marshal's party. Not more than 25 guards were defending Hastings when the miners attacked them, and it is almost an hour the battle raged on the hills surrounding the mine. It was the strikers who numbered, it is said, approximately 300 men, succeeded in driving them slowly back to the mine and shelter.

TRUCKS, TRAINS, FLARING DYNAMITE MINES, ROLL SECRETLY INTO TRINIDAD

Several Hundred Soldiers Now in Strike District; Fierce Battles Rage in Three Camps; One Killed and Eight Are Wounded

TRINIDAD, Oct. 29. (Wednesday)—Several companies of the Colorado National guard, including the Denver companies, with Adjutant General John Chase, arrived here shortly after midnight this morning. The troops did not detain, but remained in the yards of the Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fe. Great secrecy was maintained by railway officials as to the point where the troops trains would stop, as fears existed here last night for the safety of the trains, due to rumors of threatened violence on the part of the strikers. Great crowds of striking miners were gathered at all stations to meet the incoming trains.

DENVER, Oct. 28.—(Wednesday)—A report that Hastings had been captured by the strikers was denied by telephone from mine headquarters at Berwind early today.

Early this morning Berwind was preparing for another clash with the strikers, who had been gathering about town during the night. At dawn the attack was expected.

Telephone and wire communication with Trinidad was cut off from Berwind early yesterday morning, and up to an early hour this morning had not been restored.

The news that troops had reached Trinidad gave great relief, for it was hoped they would reach Berwind before the clash began.

DENVER, Oct. 28.—Word of the arrival of state troops in the southern Colorado coal fields was eagerly awaited tonight by Governor Ammons. His final instructions to Adjutant General John Chase were to "take no chances" and, in view of the absence of information that any troops had reached the strike zone, it was the general belief at the state house that General Chase had decided to hold the Second regiment, composed from southern Colorado towns at some point outside Trinidad until he could join them with the five hundred strikers from Denver.

Early tonight the governor was in telephone communication with General Chase at Pueblo but the latter gave no intimation of his plans for invading the strike districts.

After the departure of General Chase at 1:45 this afternoon the governor turned his attention to perfecting the plan for the conduct of the military campaign. Letters were sent to J. T. Waltham, J. C. Caspard and J. W. Brown, presidents of the three principal coal companies, and to John B. White, Frank J. Hayward and John McLehman, officials of the United Mine Workers of America, asking them

It was in Hastings that the most serious fighting took place, and it was there that the first deaths were killed and the strikers wounded. The mine camp had been hemmed in on two sides by the strikers, who climbed the steep hills of either side of the camp during the night, and at daylight began pouring into the camp. Mine officials had been notified that Mustang, a town with deputies was to come into the camp, and when the strikers started they made a great part of the defense in an attempt to keep the strikers out. A few men of the strikers later, however, the guards were defending Hastings, but the miners attacked them and a desperate fight was the result. The strikers were the victors in the fight, the hills surrounding the camp. The strikers were the victors in the fight, the hills surrounding the camp. Good Bowels Are An Aid to Growth

Growing Children Need a Mild Laxative to Foster Regular Bowel Movement

As a child grows older it requires more and more personal attention from the mother, and as the functions of the bowels are of the utmost importance to health, great attention should be paid to them.

Diet is of great importance, and the mother should watch the effect of certain foods. A food will constipate one and not another, and so we have a healthy food like eggs causing biliousness to thousands, and a wholesome fruit like bananas constipating many. It is also to be considered that the child is growing, and great changes are taking place in the young man or young woman. The system has not yet settled itself to its later routine.

A very valuable remedy at this stage, and one which every growing boy and girl should be given often or occasionally, according to the individual circumstances, is Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. This is a laxative and tonic combined, so mild that it is given by little babies, and yet equally effective in the most robust constitution. At the first sign of a tendency to constipation give a small dose of Syrup Pepsin at night on retiring, and prompt action will follow in the morning. It not only acts on the stomach and bowels but its tonic properties build up and strengthen the system generally, which is an opinion shared by Mr. John Day, of Bloomfield, N. J. He has a large family and at ages where the growth and development must be watched, little Marie has thrived especially well on Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. Mr. Day considers it the right laxative for young and old and has found none better for young children.

MARIE DAY

The use of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin will teach you to avoid cathartics, salts and pills as they are too harsh for the majority and their effect is only temporary. Syrup Pepsin brings permanent results, and it can be conveniently obtained of any nearby druggist at fifty cents and one dollar a bottle. Results are always guaranteed or money will be refunded.

Families wishing to try a free sample bottle can obtain it postpaid by addressing Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 419 Washington St., Monticello, Ill. A postal card with your name and address on it will do.

the tenacity and interest that are so frequently lacking in the stage offerings of today.

"THE MERRY COUNTESS"

"The Merry Countess," characterized as a veritable whirl of color, dance and song, thickened with the alchemy of melody and tuneful music, and distinguished by the original production, direct from the Casino theater, New York, comes to the Opera house Saturday, Nov. 1st, matinee and night.

The score of this exquisite operetta, composed by Johann Strauss, is the glorious realization of genuine comic opera, and is piquant, rhythmic and at times fairly elegant. Strauss is, without doubt, the waltz king of his generation and stands today without a peer.

It was Johann Strauss who composed "The Beautiful Blue Danube," which is incorporated in this score. The story of "The Merry Countess" is strictly modern. Many and unique are the situations, while the humor is of the bubbling kind, with all the sparkle and brilliancy of champagne. The comedians in the cast are the most ubiquitous on two sides of the Atlantic.

The staging of this operetta far surpasses anything sent on tour this season and is such as to arouse envy among the great theatrical magnates. It is simply superb.

"The Merry Countess" was received by dramatic critics and amusement seekers alike as the brightest, smartest and most wholesome musical comedy of the decade, and because it was such, thousands flocked to its shrines to worship the gods of music and melody. So pronounced was the success that it remained the one irrefutable aristocrat of the Broadway stage. Prospective patrons from all over America, and even as far as the Orient, sent requisitions for seats at the Casino, so that they would be assured of accommodations when they arrived at the metropolis. It is estimated that eleven thousand out-of-town mail orders were received at the Casino box office during the six months' engagement of "The Merry Countess" there.

GREAT CROWDS ENTHUSED OVER "THE BATTLE OF WATERLOO"

Great crowds witnessed the animated photographic reproduction of "The Battle of Waterloo" at the Odeon theater yesterday afternoon and night, and it must be comforting news to those who could not gain admission yesterday that the same excellent card continues today at the popular "silent drama" playhouse.

For almost an hour and a half the onlooker is thrilled by this marvelous ful and talented daughter of a rapidly vanishing race gifted to a remarkable degree with personality, voice and histrionic ability. Always appears in full native costume, and employs appropriate poses and gestures to accentuate the vividness of her song interpretation. thousands at a small price, than to the few at increased prices. It should also be kept in mind that the afternoon crowds are not nearly so large as the night crowds, and those who can conveniently attend during the day should do so. Extra ushers have been engaged to further serve the public during this engagement, and none need remain away fearing a lack of good attention. Standing room will not be permitted, and only the actual seating capacity of the Odeon will be sold.

BYRON'S TROUBADOURS

"I heard these young men in Chicago, and I am going to hear them again Thursday evening," was an expression made by a person who had heard these musicians. Byron's Troubadours are simply great. Their male quartet work is excellent and the work on the instruments is unexcelled. Any one missing this concert will be sure to regret it. They give a clean-cut entertainment, and their concert is worth more than the price asked Thursday evening. Tickets will sell for 50 cents at the First Baptist church, Thursday evening of this week.

MADE AT LAST—AT LAST! "THE BATTLE OF WATERLOO"

Today, at the Odeon theater, "The Battle of Waterloo," the greatest war picture ever filmed, made on the spot where a century ago the fateful contest waged that changed the map of the world and the destinies of nations, will be shown at small prices so, the many may benefit by this unusual historical achievement.

In commenting on this picture in the London Daily Mirror, Lord Robert Kilglicer said: "The battle scenes are marvellously realistic. I can hardly understand how such large bodies of men and horses can be made to act in so masterly a manner before the camera."

The London News and Leader devoted a feature page, by pen and picture to this masterpiece of photography, and, in part, said: "Here is a work which should prove of inestimable value to the student body of England and the nations of the continent. The Battle of Waterloo is gripping, and one of the finest spectacular animated pictures brought to our attention to date. How it is possible to surpass it can hardly be conceived."

Not alone is the English press profuse in its praises of this feature moving picture, but the American daily newspapers have devoted unlimited numbers of columns in favorable reviews.

Ordinarily this attraction would be played at advanced prices, as is the case in the large eastern cities, but here in Colorado Springs the management, having in mind the fact that it is more satisfactory—and in most instances, more profitable—to play to

LEVY DIES FROM POISON TAKEN EIGHT DAYS AGO

NEW YORK, Oct. 28.—L. M. Levy, a retired Brooklyn clothing merchant, died from the effects of a slow poison he took by mistake eight days ago. His 11 children stood weeping by the bedside. Mrs. Levy, heart broken, was unable to come to the hospital.

Levy was cheerful to the end and fought, like the Georgia banker similarly poisoned some time ago, against the sure approach of death. He became unconscious only today.

REVOLUTIONARY WAR RECORDS TO BE COMPILED

WASHINGTON, Oct. 28.—Compilation of the records of the revolutionary war is to be undertaken at once by the war and navy departments and Assistant Secretary Roosevelt of the navy and Breckinridge of the war, will supervise the work personally. The undertaking is expected to be a tedious one.

Arrangements of the records of the civil war now have been completed by the two departments. The result is contained in 104 volumes, of which 75 deal with the struggles of the armies of the union and the confederacy and the remainder detail the clashes between their contending fleets.

G. A. R. Assails Pension Order

WASHINGTON, Oct. 28.—Led by "Private" John M. Ditzell, the Army of the Republic is assailing a recent order of the commissioner of pensions that Civil war veterans seeking pensions must furnish proofs of their family name, their employment for the ten years preceding 1890 and produce a Bible record of their family. The objection claim this virtually would annul the benefits intended for veterans under the Sherman law, which contemplated increased pensions under simpler provisions.

Gives Long List of Places He Robbed

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 28.—William Bastian, the youth who last week was captured mainly through the efforts of a bullock and who later confessed to an amazing series of burglaries committed in this city, has given the police a long list of houses he has robbed.

Bastian is still racking his memory in order to aid the police in clearing up numerous burglaries of the last five years, the periods covered by his operations, but says the task of remembering all the places he has robbed is almost impossible because of his imperfect memory.

Bastian told the police yesterday that he had planned to rob only a few more places, which he hoped would bring him sufficient to buy an automobile. After that he was to have given up his career of crime.

Bermuda enjoys the distinction of being the only British colony mentioned in Shakespeare. And his way of spelling it the "Bermoothes"—is more correct and grammatical than that used today. Bermuda is plural, not singular. It is really an archipelago or cluster of islands—very small, seeing that all told they do not aggregate more than 19 square miles. Bermuda is less than 5,000 miles from the coast of the United States. The exceptional mildness and salubrity of its climate have made it during recent years a favorite winter resort with well-to-do Americans. According to statistics these visitors number some 20,000 a year. Mark

MRS. FISKE

When Mrs. Fiske brings her current and last season's successful play, "The High Road," to the Opera house, Tuesday, Nov. 4, we are to see her in a new type of work and in a new type of play. Edward Sheldon's vital handiwork is a play of the moment, as drama as it will could be and the story to be drawn from it are such as will make for the betterment of humanity. Mrs. Fiske's role, while differing from any of its predecessors in her repertoire, takes on some of the combined characteristics tense and epoch-making drama. He may have some of the faults of immaturity but he has none of the shortcomings of senility.

In "The High Road" he has seized boldly upon a question that daily grows more important to the women and, through them, to the men of the country, and he has handled it with the most modern sense of justice and right. When eugenics becomes known in every American home, when selfishness disappears before universal kindness, when struggling minds are allowed every possible outlet, when parental authority bears no trace of hardship, when the love of beauty is of several of them. The story concerns the struggles of a girl and woman who reaches different moral conclusions at different periods of her life. The play carries a strong vein of psychology but it is not a remarkable vein of interest, as is common. In its individual opportunity, no play in which Mrs. Fiske has ever appeared, has given greater scope to her finished art.

Edward Sheldon and the people who go to the theater have a joint heritage in that young playwright's youth. It gives him courage, vigor and strength; it gives them advance-encouraged and not strangled, when, in short, children are first well born and then well reared, then will there be no cause for argument about Mary Jane and her sisters who, though many be lacking in her final great accomplishments, do the country like dust in a wind.

Mrs. Fiske has rarely appeared in better artistic advantage than as the ill-treated child of the farm who at 17 starts upon her eventful pilgrimage, and she surely has never appeared to more appealing or sympathetic advantage. Nor is Mr. Sheldon's play a dry-as-dust thesis on a moral question. On the contrary, it seems with visualization of the greatest battle in the annals of history, and considering the fact that the struggle is one on foreign soil, the interest it creates is only second to that where the uniforms are worn by American soldiers.

The battle of Waterloo in fact changed the map of the world and the destinies of nations, and the event holds—and will continue to do so throughout all time—a mighty place in the history of civilization.

To the student of history this picture has a significant value, and to the ordinary individual there is more than enough to enthral, but viewed entirely from the standpoint of a form of entertainment, "The Battle of Waterloo" is a tremendous offering at small cost.

Something like 5,000 men, 6,000 horses, hundreds of cannon and tons of gunpowder are utilized in making this picture production, and the undertaking is on a most lavish scale.

All in all, the Odeon management is deserving of a public vote of thanks by the people of Colorado Springs for bringing to them by excellent a feat of picture production, and the undertaking is on a most lavish scale.

If ladies and children will attend during the afternoon, much of the night concession will be relieved.

PRINCESS TSIANINA

REDFEATHER

The Indian mazzosoprano, assisted by Mr. Frank W. Farmer, tenor, and Mrs. J. C. Wilcox, pianist, will appear for benefit of Beth-El hospital at the Burns theatre, Tuesday, November 11, under the auspices of the American Music Society. In recitals of primitive and idealized songs of the North American Indians Princess Tsianina (pronounced Ching-nah, and meaning wild flower), is the most striking musical personality before the American public today. She is not a make-believe Indian, but a genuine descendant of the famous old Chief Tecumseh, of the Creek nation. The most beautiful

GOLCONDA MINE IS ACTIVE AGAIN

CRIPPLE CREEK, Colo., Oct. 28.—The Golconda lode mining claim, U. S. Mineral Survey No. 232, located near the northwestern corner of the Victor township, is again to be operated after years of inactivity.

The property, containing about 10 acres, is owned by the Ridgeway estate, Philadelphia, Pa., and has been leased by the executors of the estate to Tom Fitz Morris of Chicago, and associates interested with him for a five-year term. The royalties to be paid on ores shipped, after the deduction of freight, are hauling and treatment, will be graded with the rates ranging from 15 to 25 per cent on the net returns.

The main shaft, on the Golconda has been sunk to a depth of 700 feet and the lateral work is extensive. The shaft house is equipped with a gasoline hoisting engine of 22 horsepower, a five-drill Leveyer compressor, blacksmith shop with necessary tools, carpenter shop and mine office.

For the week last past, Lessee, Fitz Morris has had the hoist in operation, and the accumulated seepage water in the lower workings has been raised. Active work has commenced at the bottom of the 700-foot level, where a vein, believed the extension of one of the lodes of the Gold Coin vein system, was exposed. Tests of the vein matter were made, and the returns carrying values as high as $54 to the ton, determined the lessee to more fully exploit this excellent prospect.

The Golconda shaft was sunk for the owner by Frank Argeminger, a former well-known mining man, at that time a resident of Victor, and now in California. The expenditure for development was heavy, while the production has been nominal, and work ceased on the property more than ten years ago.

JACK RABBIT CLAIM WILL BE EXPLOITED

CRIPPLE CREEK, Colo., Oct. 28.—A prospecting permit, with lease option has been secured by O. W. Cotton on the Jack Rabbit lode mining claim, Isabella Miles company. The lease option covers the block north of the Pharmacal mine, and the lessee is limited to a depth of 200 feet.

CARS LAST WEEK

CRIPPLE CREEK, Colo., Oct. 28.—Last week's production from the Elkton mine, billed out from the Colorado smelter by Marion Stark, representing the Elkton Consolidated Mining and Milling company, totaled 24 cars, or in excess of 800 tons. The ore was consigned to the mill of the Golden Cycle Mining company, under the treatment contract in existence between the two corporations. The ore was of the customary Elkton grade and value.

VINDICATOR PREPARING TO EXTEND OPERATIONS

CRIPPLE CREEK, Oct. 28.—A review of the Vindicator Consolidated Gold Mining company's operations for the quarter last past, accompanied the dividend checks, and is of particular interest from the statement that drifts in the 1,800-foot or present deepest level in the main or Vindicator No. 1 shaft, have been carried to such a length as to warrant the assertion that these drifts "indicate a lengthening of the ore shoots." Stockholders were further advised that the company is making preparations to deepen its main shaft an additional 200 feet.

Prospect from the Empire State shaft, to prospect this ground, and the lateral will cut the Jack Rabbit claim at an approximate depth of 875 feet from surface.
